Amendment 42
Andrey Kovatchev

Motion for a resolution
Recital A a (new)

Motion for a resolution

Amendment

Aa. whereas, as a consequence of Russia's illegal war of aggression against Ukraine and its hybrid war against EU Member States, civilian commercial shipping in the western Black Sea has come under renewed attack, including the sinking on 5 October 2026 of the Turkish-owned, Saint Kitts and Nevis-flagged Royad Mammadov in Romania's exclusive economic zone, in which two crew members were killed and others injured, followed on 6 October 2026 by drone attacks on two commercial vessels in Bulgaria's exclusive economic zone, resulting in the sinking of the Togolese-flagged Alfa Watan, whose crew remains unaccounted for, and the damaging and evacuation of the Palau-flagged Able, with two crew members seriously injured; whereas these incidents represent a serious escalation of risks to civilian navigation, maritime security and critical infrastructure in the western Black Sea and demonstrate the need for strengthened European action to protect security and freedom of navigation;

Or. en

Amendment 43
Nathalie Loiseau

Motion for a resolution
Recital A a (new)

Motion for a resolution

Amendment

Aa. whereas third states are leveraging religious actors, associations and segments of their diaspora to interfere with domestic political debates within the EU; whereas Türkiye has provided extensive support to the Muslim Brotherhood, from hosting exiled members of the organisation to the creation of media networks close to the movement; whereas the United States administration will be funding EU-based organisations openly seeking to undermine EU action and legislation;

Or. en

Amendment 44
Nela Riehl

Motion for a resolution
Recital A a (new)

Motion for a resolution

Amendment

Aa. whereas the rules-based international order also encompasses the international frameworks governing trade, investment, the environment and technical standards; whereas the credibility of the European Union and of multilateralism in partner countries increasingly depends on partnerships that generate local value addition, industrial capabilities, skills and technology transfer, as well as the coherence of the EU's foreign policy instruments;

Or. en

Amendment 45

Thijs Reuten, Nacho Sánchez Amor, Tonino Picula, Chloé Ridel

Motion for a resolution

Recital A a (new)

Motion for a resolution

Amendment

Aa. whereas the instruments the Union uses to respond to these threats are spread and fragmented across the institutions: defence-industrial, space, cyber, economic security, preparedness, internal security and enlargement policies fall largely within the remit of the Commission, while the common foreign and security policy and the common security and defence policy per se are conducted by the VP/HR and decided by the Council;

Or. en

Amendment 46

David McAllister

Motion for a resolution

Recital A a (new)

Motion for a resolution

Amendment

Aa. whereas close cooperation with like-minded partners and allies remains indispensable for addressing global challenges and defending shared values and interests; whereas strengthening strategic partnerships with democratic partners, international organisations and regional organisations is essential to uphold multilateralism and reinforce the rules-based international order;

Or. en

Amendment 47
Michał Dworczyk

Motion for a resolution
Recital A a (new)

Motion for a resolution

Amendment

Aa. whereas the CFSP is subject to specific rules and procedures under the Treaties, reflecting the particular responsibilities of Member States in the field of foreign and security policy; whereas decisions under the CFSP are, as a general rule, taken unanimously by the European Council and the Council;

Or. en

Amendment 48
Nathalie Loiseau

Motion for a resolution
Recital A a (new)

Motion for a resolution

Amendment

Aa. whereas Putin aims to subjugate Ukraine, restore as much as possible of the Russian empire, destroy the credibility of NATO, undermine the European Union and re-establish a Russian sphere of influence over eastern Europe;

Michał Dworczyk

Motion for a resolution

Recital A b (new)

Motion for a resolution

Amendment

Ab. whereas Russia's illegal war of aggression against Ukraine and its broader hostile posture make Russia the primary and long-term threat to European security; whereas Russia is increasingly engaging in hostile and provocative actions against European countries that fall just below the threshold of armed conflict, including violations of their airspace, drone and missile incursions, acts of sabotage and attacks against critical infrastructure, alongside cyberattacks, foreign information manipulation and interference and other hybrid activities; whereas Member States on the EU's and NATO's eastern flank are particularly exposed to these threats and require particular attention and sustained support;

Or. en

Amendment 51
David McAllister

Motion for a resolution
Recital A b (new)

Motion for a resolution

Amendment

Ab. whereas the EU's eastern and southern neighbourhoods continue to be characterised by instability, protracted conflicts, democratic backsliding, humanitarian crises and growing geopolitical competition, which influence European security, prosperity and resilience; whereas promoting democratic values, stability, and the rule of law in the EU neighbourhood remains a strategic priority EU of the external action;

Amendment 52
Francisco José Millán Mon, Gabriel Mato

Motion for a resolution
Recital A b (new)

Motion for a resolution

Amendment

Ab. whereas respect for international law and its fundamental principles – in particular states' political independence, sovereignty and territorial integrity, the non-use of force and others such as freedom of navigation – is an essential element in preserving the rules-based international order;

Amendment 53
Thijs Reuten, Nacho Sánchez Amor, Tonino Picula, Chloé Ridel

Motion for a resolution
Recital A b (new)

Motion for a resolution

Amendment

Ab. whereas continued competition, lack of cooperation, communication and coordination among Commission, EEAS and to a lesser extent the Council is harming the Union CFSP and its geopolitical weight; whereas the geopolitical moment asks for political unity, coherence and decisiveness;

Or. en

Amendment 54
David McAllister

Motion for a resolution
Recital A c (new)

Motion for a resolution

Amendment

Ac. whereas the wider use of qualified majority voting in areas provided by the Treaties, together with enhanced coordination among the EU institutions and the Member States, could contribute to a more unified and effective common foreign and security policy;

Or. en

Amendment 55
Michał Dworczyk

Motion for a resolution
Recital A c (new)

Motion for a resolution

Amendment

Ac. whereas Russia's ability to sustain its war of aggression and its military build-up is supported by the Belarusian, Iranian and North Korean regimes, as

Amendment 59

Thijs Reuten, Nacho Sánchez Amor, Tonino Picula, Chloé Ridel

Motion for a resolution

Recital A f (new)

Motion for a resolution

Amendment

Af. whereas the role of European actors in global peace diplomacy has diminished, with Europe having played no significant role in the peace mediation and conflict prevention over the past years, despite being among the top contributors to multilateral institutions and peacekeeping operations;

Or. en

Amendment 60

Thijs Reuten, Nacho Sánchez Amor, Tonino Picula, Chloé Ridel

Motion for a resolution

Recital A g (new)

Motion for a resolution

Amendment

Ag. whereas the Union's security environment has fundamentally deteriorated, with Russia's war of aggression against Ukraine, hybrid campaigns, sabotage of critical infrastructure, foreign information manipulation and interference, and the weaponisation of economic dependencies blurring the traditional distinction between internal and external security; whereas the Union lacks a single point where intelligence, situational awareness and policy options across these domains are brought together to prepare decisions, unlike an increasing number of Member States that have established national security advisers or national security councils;

Or. en

Amendment 61

Thijs Reuten, Nacho Sánchez Amor, Tonino Picula, Chloé Ridel

Motion for a resolution

Recital A h (new)

Motion for a resolution

Amendment

Ah. whereas the Commission has taken initiatives on internal security coordination, including regular security briefings of the College of Commissioners, Security College, and a proposed security and intelligence capacity; whereas such initiatives risk duplicating the EU Intelligence and Situation Centre (EU INTCEN) and the EU Military Staff Intelligence Directorate, and risk undermining the role of the High Representative, unless they are embedded in a coherent, jointly governed structure;

Amendment

B. whereas Parliament ensures the democratic scrutiny, accountability and transparency of the EU's external action; whereas such engagements contribute to advancing the Union's foreign policy objectives, promoting democratic values and strengthening the EU's credibility as a global actor;

Or. en

Amendment 63
Cristian Terheş

Motion for a resolution
Recital B a (new)

Motion for a resolution

Amendment

Ba. whereas Russia's malign use of cultural, religious and civilisational narratives forms part of a broader approach to foreign information manipulation and interference, which are consistent with the Russian Military Doctrine approved on 25 December 2014, which emphasised the protection of so-called "traditional Russian spiritual and moral values" against perceived malign Western influence; whereas this approach was subsequently reflected in the National Security Strategy of the Russian Federation approved by President Vladimir Putin on 31 December 2015, thereby demonstrating the role of cultural and civilisational narratives as instruments within Russia's broader geopolitical strategy;

Motion for a resolution
Recital B a (new)

Motion for a resolution

Amendment

Ba. whereas the People's Republic of China (PRC) has further escalated its grey-zone military and non-military pressure around Taiwan, including deploying maritime patrols, live-fire military exercises in the Taiwan Strait, and conducting unlawful inspections of shipping east of Taiwan to establish slow normalization of control over international waters and critical maritime passages in a salami-slicing way;

Or. en

Amendment 67

Nacho Sánchez Amor, Thijs Reuten, Javi López, Hana Jalloul Muro

Motion for a resolution
Recital B a (new)

Motion for a resolution

Amendment

Ba. whereas the EU needs to keep promoting its own, autonomous European Diplomacy in all areas, including public, cultural, economic, climate, AI, digital and cyber diplomacy; whereas achieving an EU-own diplomatic service, shaped by a common diplomatic culture nurtured from an prominently EU perspective is an essential step in this regard; whereas the European Diplomatic Academy contributes to this aim;

Or. en

Amendment 68
Rihards Kols

Motion for a resolution

Recital B a (new)

Motion for a resolution

Amendment

Ba. whereas Russia's war of aggression against Ukraine and hostile operations against European countries form part of a sustained attempt to undermine European security; whereas the military support provided by Iran and North Korea and the support provided by actors in China to Russia's war effort require a coordinated response addressing both the aggressor and those enabling its aggression;

Or. en

Amendment 69

Nela Riehl

Motion for a resolution

Recital B a (new)

Motion for a resolution

Amendment

Ba. whereas the space for civil society is shrinking world-wide and Human Rights Defenders (HRDs) and Civil Society Organisations (CSOs) are increasingly at risk of attacks and threats from state and non-state actors, including within the EU; whereas HRDs and CSOs are among our main allies when it comes to defending and promoting human rights, democracy, and rule of law;

Amendment 70

Miriam Lexmann

Motion for a resolution

Recital B a (new)

Motion for a resolution

Amendment

Ba. whereas engagement and deterrence proved insufficient to prevent Russia's full-scale invasion of Ukraine in 2022; whereas the EU's deterrence capabilities must be significantly strengthened and adapted to diverse scenarios to effectively dissuade potential adversaries from aggressive action;

Or. en

Amendment 71

Javi López, Nacho Sánchez Amor

Motion for a resolution

Recital B a (new)

Motion for a resolution

Amendment

Ba. whereas Latin America and the Caribbean remain a natural and preferred partner for the EU, with which it shares deep historical, cultural and human ties, as well as common values, interests and challenges;

Motion for a resolution

Recital B b (new)

Motion for a resolution

Amendment

Bb. whereas democratic Taiwan remains a target of unprecedented and increasingly autonomous AI-driven cyberattacks targeting critical government infrastructure, nuclear safety agencies, and energy providers; whereas Taiwanese travellers face coercive border measures and targeted forced inspections of personal electronic devices by Chinese authorities; whereas China implemented legislation with extraterritorial reach, including the so-called Law on Promoting Ethnic Unity and Progress, which constitutes a form of transnational repression and lawfare against Taiwanese individuals; whereas Taiwanese individuals with ties to the PRC face heightened risks of arbitrary detention if perceived by China as unsupportive of China's goals;

Or. en

Amendment 74

Nacho Sánchez Amor, Thijs Reuten, Javi López, Hana Jalloul Muro

Motion for a resolution

Recital B b (new)

Motion for a resolution

Amendment

Bb. whereas democracy and human rights in the international arena are increasingly under attack from authoritarian actors and regime; whereas the objective of such regimes is to undermine the universality and indivisiability of human rights, to defend instead self-serving narratives of cultural relativism; whereas the attacks on democracy and human rights directly undermine the international security; whereas a world of democracies, understood as mature democratic systems, is an altogether safer world, given their significant checks and balances that prevent the unpredictable behaviour of authoritarian states;
