Motion for a resolution
Paragraph 39

Motion for a resolution

39. Calls for an upgraded EU-Africa partnership and stronger bilateral ties with like-minded African countries based on the ‘more for more’ principle; welcomes the EU-Ghana security and defence partnership as a model for enhanced cooperation;

Amendment

39. Calls for an upgraded EU-Africa partnership and stronger bilateral ties with like-minded African countries based on the ‘more for more’ principle; welcomes the EU-Ghana security and defence partnership as a model for enhanced cooperation; notes the increasing geopolitical competition and growing presence of other actors in Africa, most notably China and Russia, which require the EU to closely monitor these activities and to reassess EU cooperation with the respective countries; calls on the Commission to develop an approach which is credible and based on the full respect for human rights, media freedom and accountability, transparent and responsive governance, and the fight against corruption to counter the increasing influence; emphasises that the EU must offer a sustainable alternative for our partner countries as laid out, for instance, in the Global Gateway Strategy, which aims at boosting investments in infrastructure and decreasing foreign dependencies;

Amendment 900

Javi López, Nacho Sánchez Amor

Motion for a resolution

Paragraph 39 b (new)

Motion for a resolution

Amendment

39b. Strongly condemns the growing criminalisation of LGBTIQ+ persons in Africa; is particularly alarmed that same-sex relations remain punishable by death in Uganda, under the 2023 Anti-Homosexuality Act for so-called aggravated homosexuality, in Mauritania and in several states of northern Nigeria; deplores the adoption of new criminal provisions against homosexuality in Mali in 2024, Burkina Faso in 2025 and Niger in 2026, as well as the tightening of existing legislation in Senegal, which in March 2026 doubled prison sentences for same-sex relations and criminalised their so-called promotion and financing; recalls that these laws violate international and regional human rights obligations, including the African Charter on Human and Peoples' Rights, and fuel violence, arbitrary arrests and discrimination; calls on the EU and its Member States to raise these concerns systematically in their political dialogues, to support and protect LGBTIQ+ human rights defenders, and to ensure that EU cooperation does not contribute to their persecution;

Amendment 901

Željana Zovko

Motion for a resolution
Paragraph 39 a (new)

Motion for a resolution

Amendment

39a. Urges the EU to pay greater attention to the persecution religious minorities in Africa, including Christians facing increasing violence and persecution in parts of sub-Saharan Africa; calls for the protection of freedom of religion or belief to be systematically integrated into the EU's external action, including its political dialogue, development cooperation and engagement with African partners; stresses the importance of supporting affected communities and strengthening interreligious dialogue to prevent further violence;

Or. en

Amendment 902
Javi López, Nacho Sánchez Amor

Motion for a resolution
Paragraph 39 a (new)

Motion for a resolution

Amendment

39a. Is deeply concerned about the backsliding on the rights of women and girls in several African countries, including persistent and, in some cases, renewed attempts to weaken legal protections against female genital mutilation and child marriage, as well as the widespread use of sexual and gender-based violence as a weapon of war, notably in Sudan and the eastern Democratic Republic of the Congo; calls on the EU to make gender equality and the protection of women's rights a central element of its partnerships with African countries and to support women's rights organisations and defenders;

Amendment 910
David McAllister

Motion for a resolution
Paragraph 40 i (new)

Motion for a resolution

Amendment

40i. Recalls that Parliament's objection to the annual action plan in favour of the United Republic of Tanzania for 2026 has been overruled by the Commission without taking Parliament's concerns sufficiently into consideration; stresses that the double objection to an annual action plan has been a novum and regrets that the Commission's dismissal of Parliament's objection creates interinstitutional tensions as well as allows the impression of European disunity which would be harming the European Union's external image; calls for stronger scrutiny mechanisms for Parliament on the financial expenditures within the framework of Global Europe and the upcoming financing period 2028-2034; stresses that Parliament's democratic mandate and political oversight must be fully reflected in the future architecture of EU external action;

Or. en

Amendment 911
Nela Riehl

Motion for a resolution
Paragraph 40 a (new)

Motion for a resolution

Amendment

40a. Condemns the widespread and systematic human rights violations in Libya, notably against migrants, refugees and asylum seekers, including arbitrary detention, torture, sexual violence, forced labour, extortion, enforced disappearances and unlawful killings, and deplores the continued lack of accountability for such abuses, including those documented by the UN Fact Finding Mission on Libya; deplores the restrictions on humanitarian organisations; calls on the European Commission to ensure that all EU cooperation, funding and assistance to Libya on migration and border management is conditional on effective and independently monitored human rights safeguards, full respect for the principle of non-refoulement and meaningful accountability for violations; calls on the European Commission to suspend or redirect EU funding where such safeguards are not met and to ensure that EU policies do not contribute, directly or indirectly, to the return of migrants, refugees and asylum seekers to Libya where they face a real risk of serious human rights violations;

Amendment 912

Emmanouil Fragkos, Geadis Geadis

Motion for a resolution

Paragraph 40 a (new)

Motion for a resolution

Amendment

40a. Calls on the Commission, the VP/HR and the Member States to explore the creation, following agreements with willing third countries, of special European zones on their territory, modelled on special economic zones, to which a specific common European legal and administrative framework would apply, in full respect of international law and fundamental rights; calls for these zones to provide safe reception conditions and allow for the effective processing of international protection and return procedures, combined with European investment, job creation and development infrastructure in the host countries; considers that such a framework could contribute to a long-term, sustainable and clearly more effective response to the ongoing migration crisis compared to the existing model, as well as to the activities of smuggling networks;

Or. el

Amendment 913

Francisco José Millán Mon, Gabriel Mato

Motion for a resolution

Paragraph 40 a (new)

40a. Expresses deep concern about the continuing deterioration of the political and security situation in the Sahel; stresses the serious consequences of the situation for stability in neighbouring countries, including countries in the Southern Neighbourhood and the Gulf of Guinea, as well as for the EU itself; notes the joint Commission and European External Action Service document on the EU's renewed approach to the Sahel, but takes the view that this should translate to a more ambitious strategy for the region that helps to strengthen the EU's presence and capacity for influence in the region; calls for improved cooperation with reliable partner countries in the region and in the surrounding areas with regard to the fight against terrorism and organised crime and the management of migratory flows;

Motion for a resolution
Paragraph 40 a (new)

Motion for a resolution

Amendment

40a. Is concerned that drug trafficking networks at sea are becoming increasingly sophisticated and are adapting to heightened security in Europe's largest harbours, notably by shifting cocaine routes through transit countries such as those in West Africa, where drug proceeds fuel corruption and instability; highlights

the need for a broader EU strategy that addresses the entire trafficking chain, from source and transit countries to destination markets; underscores the need for strengthened judicial cooperation with third countries, including in West Africa, to ensure that individuals convicted of serious drug trafficking offences do not evade justice;

Thijs Reuten, Nacho Sánchez Amor, Chloé Ridel

Motion for a resolution

Paragraph 40 a (new)

Motion for a resolution

Amendment

40a. Stresses that the Union's engagement with Africa must be rooted in a genuine partnership of equals, based on mutual respect, African ownership and co-leadership, and support for the African Union's peace and security architecture, rather than in a narrow approach that reduces the continent to questions of migration control, security or access to raw materials;

Motion for a resolution

Amendment

45a. Underlines that pursuant to Article 24 TEU, the common foreign and security policy shall be put into effect by the High Representative of the Union for Foreign Affairs and Security Policy and by Member States; recalls that Article 17 TEU explicitly excludes the CFSP from the Commission's general responsibility for ensuring the Union's external representation; stresses in this connection the need for full observance of the Treaty-based division of powers and institutional balance when conducting and representing the Union's foreign and security policy; opposes attempts to expand the Commission's role in conducting and representing the CFSP beyond the competences conferred upon it by the Treaties; underlines that acts of this kind violate the division of powers provided for by the Treaties and threaten to weaken the role of the Member States and the High Representative in shaping the Union's foreign policy;

Amendment

46. Calls for the reinforcement of the European External Action Service (EEAS) with adequate financial and human resources, including in EU delegations; deplores that the EEAS and EU Delegations' current budget amounts to less than 0.5% of the EU's annual commitments, a level which is absolutely irrelevant given the scale of today's global crises; notes that the budgetary austerity has already forced cuts to core diplomatic activities and even postponement of security installations, with officials warning that mission closures could result; whereas this structural underfunding prevents the EU from providing a credible pro-crisis common response, undermines its duty of care towards staff and security, and limits its ability to act as a global player;

Amendment 1139

Marco Tarquinio, Cecilia Strada

Motion for a resolution

Paragraph 50 a (new)

Motion for a resolution

Amendment

50a. Deplores the dismantling of the United States Agency for International Development (USAID) and the US withdrawal from multilateral organisations and agreements; is concerned that, together with cuts to development and humanitarian aid by other donors, including EU Member States, this has severely affected millions of people, in particular in the fields of health and food security; stresses that development cooperation and humanitarian aid are essential instruments of the EU's external action and of its credibility, and calls on the EU to act as a reliable partner for multilateralism and for the Global South;

Paragraph 50 c (new)

Motion for a resolution

Amendment

50c. Underlines that each matter raised above requires an appropriate written response from the HR/VP; calls on the HR/VP to respond to Parliament's calls, requests and concerns swiftly and in writing; considers that oral statements in committee or plenary can only constitute a sufficient response in exceptional or urgent cases; stresses that in the current challenging geopolitical context, close cooperation and partnership between the European Parliament and the HR/VP are of strategic importance; underlines that CFSP or CSDP decisions entailing expenditure always constitute basic choices for those policies and must be subject to parliamentary oversight; expects more systematic exchanges prior to the adoption of mandates and CFSP strategies and an improved flow of information on negotiations and the implementation of international agreements, as well as memoranda of understanding;
