Subject: Information concerning Greek arms deliveries to Ukraine

According to the Ukrainian Prime Minister, the military pledges set out in 20 security agreements that Kyiv has signed with its partners, involve military support worth USD 60 billion annually over the next four years.

The Greek Government is not keeping its citizens informed about the transfer of Greek weapon systems to Ukraine, thereby failing to respect its obligations regarding transparency, particularly given that public assets are concerned. Instead, information only reaches Greece through the back door, from the Ukrainian Government.

It is clear that Greek defence – particularly on our islands – is being substantially weakened since the relevant weapons are not being replaced, with the danger of the door being left open for expansionist Türkiye.

In view of this:

1. Given that the Commission is coordinating arms shipments from EU Member States to Ukraine, does it know the total value of the weapons that Greece has sent to Ukraine since the start of the war?

2. Given that Greek taxpayers are not being informed about the deliveries of Greek weapons to Ukraine, does the Commission have any proof of delivery?

3. For the purposes of transparency concerning the qualitative impact on Greek defence, is the Commission keeping a record of the cost-benefit balance between the weapons Greece has delivered to Ukraine and the weapons Greece has received from its EU and NATO allies?
