Subject: Implementation of the Pact on Migration and Asylum

In connection with the implementation of the EU Pact on Migration and Asylum, many Polish citizens are expressing concerns about the potential impact of this policy on Poland's sovereignty, social stability and labour market. Given the current public debate around migration policy, important questions are being raised about the practical application of the Pact on Migration and Asylum and its impact on the social and economic structures of EU Member States.

1. Can the Commission provide a comprehensive update of the current state of implementation of the Pact on Migration and Asylum in individual Member States, including Poland?
2. Could the Commission set out how the Pact on Migration and Asylum respects the autonomy of Member States in managing migration flows in line with national priorities and security considerations?
3. How does the Commission plan to address potential tensions between support for current residents, including EU citizens seeking employment, and the management of newly arrived people under the Pact on Migration and Asylum, especially considering the differing possibilities and preferences of the individual Member States?
