to the Commission
Rule 144
Kostas Papadakis (NI)

Subject: The inhumane reception conditions of the displaced in Crete and the responsibilities of the New Democracy Government and the EU

The images of displaced refugees arriving in Crete via Libya, crammed together in completely unsuitable conditions, are due to imperialist interventions, led by NATO-EU-USA. Libya, which has been dismembered due to EU and NATO bombings, is a case in point.

The New Democracy Government announced a racist amendment suspending the submission of asylum applications for three months.

In view of the above:

1. What is the Commission's position on the fact that, under the responsibility of the EU, the New Democracy Government and local administrations, despite the fact that there was time and that an increasing trend of flows towards Crete had been identified since last autumn, the necessary infrastructure of current temporary host and registration countries was not established in order for refugees to be provided with appropriate travel documents to go to countries of final destination?
2. What is the Commission's position on the inhumane amendment that deprives refugees from war of the right to asylum under the Geneva Convention, suspending, under the pretext of an 'asymmetric threat', asylum procedures and threatening to deport and imprison people, even without registration, with the New Democracy Government provocatively citing its age as a reason for its non-implementation, as well also as 'related practices' from other EU countries?
3. What is the Commission's position on the fact that the Dublin Regulation on the responsibility of the first host country, which is also maintained by the new pact on migration and asylum that is to be implemented, leads to the perpetuation of the entrapment, imprisonment and deportation of refugees, contrary to the right to seek asylum in the country of actual destination?
