to the Commission
Rule 144
Isabel Benjumea Benjumea (PPE)

Subject: Recovery and Resilience Facility – part five

According to data from the Spanish Government itself, it has made payments amounting to 25 % of the total Recovery and Resilience Facility funds allocated to Spain. In other words, the Spanish government should invest more than EUR 121 000 million from this Facility in a year when it has so far only been able to make payments of EUR 42 000 million over four years.

And all of this, bearing in mind that we are not even talking about final implementation data.

In view of this:

1. Does the Commission have forecasts regarding the final implementation of the Recovery and Resilience Facility in Spain?
2. Does it envisage that the Spanish Government will be able to implement 100 % of the EUR 163 800 million allocated to Spain by the agreed deadline, or, conversely, what is its forecast regarding funds that will remain unused?
3. Has the Commission received requests from the Spanish Government to extend deadlines, renegotiate the timetable of milestones and targets or inform it that it will renounce funds available in the form of loans?
