Subject: EU funding for World Youth Alliance – follow-up

In November 2024, the Commission received a question from Parliament regarding Erasmus+ funds awarded to the NGO World Youth Alliance (WYA) for a reproductive health education project, which included the FEMM Health fertility tracking app. The project has been criticised for providing misinformation and disinformation on reproductive health.

The Commission replied in February that it was assessing whether there had been a breach of the grant agreement for non-compliance with European values or grave professional misconduct. After more than six months, can the Commission clarify the following:

1. Has the Commission's assessment of the matter been completed, and if so, what is the conclusion with regard to the possible breach of the grant agreement and the Union's values?
2. Can the Commission provide a breakdown and a detailed description of all monitoring and supervision activities that were in place before the WYA case became public and a breakdown and detailed description of all new measures that the Commission deployed pursuant to the case to ensure that activities incompatible with European values do not receive EU financial support?
3. Can the Commission provide clarification as to which of such activities, including any screening process, take place during the selection process and before the grant is awarded to the recipient?
