

Question for written answer E-004311/2025/rev.1
to the Commission

Rule 144

Gilles Pennelle (PfE), Mélanie Disdier (PfE), Julie Rechagneux (PfE), Séverine Werbrouck (PfE), Christophe Bay (PfE), André Rougé (PfE), Pascale Piera (PfE), Marie Dauchy (PfE), Marie-Luce Brasier-Clain (PfE), Valérie Deloge (PfE), Mathilde Androuët (PfE), Julien Leonardelli (PfE), Fabrice Leggeri (PfE), Pierre Pimpie (PfE), Virginie Joron (PfE)

Subject: Chinese tariffs on EU agri-food products

China has recently implemented trade measures against the EU. After launching an anti-subsidy investigation into European dairy products and imposing surcharges of up to 35% on brandy and cognac, it is now applying anti-dumping duties of between 20% and 62% on European pork, which directly affects certain livestock farming regions, particularly Brittany.

At the same time, the United States has imposed 15% tariffs on European wines and spirits.

These measures indicate that the period of unbridled globalisation is coming to an end, with international trade becoming a strategic instrument of power.

In view of these new measures, which are raising serious concerns among farmers, what action does the Commission intend to take to combat these swingeing tariffs?

Supporter¹

Submitted: 4.11.2025

¹ This question is supported by a Member other than the authors: Jean-Paul Garraud (PfE).