

Question for written answer E-004727/2025
to the Commission
Rule 144
Christine Anderson (ESN)

Subject: Expenditure and mission travel of the Commission related to G7, G20 and COP30 meetings

Participation of the Commission in major multilateral summits such as the G7, the G20 and the UN Climate Change Conference (COP30) requires significant logistical, administrative and security arrangements. These activities typically involve substantial travel expenditure and a considerable number of authorised missions for Commissioners, cabinet staff and Commission officials. Given that these costs are borne by the EU budget, transparency and accountability are essential.

In this context:

1. What has been the total expenditure incurred by the Commission in the current year for its participation in G7, G20 and COP30 meetings, including travel costs, accommodation, logistics, security and preparatory missions?
2. How many official missions were authorised for Commissioners, cabinet members and Commission staff, respectively, for the purpose of attending these meetings, including preparatory visits, Sherpa meetings and technical working groups?
3. Does the Commission intend to publish, on a regular and disaggregated basis, comprehensive data on travel-related spending for high-level international summits, in order to enhance transparency and enable parliamentary scrutiny?
