Subject: ‘High-level event in the European Parliament on children’s LGBTIQ+ rights’ and EU funding for organisations and projects concerning supposed ‘LGBTIQ+ children’

On 4 June 2026, a ‘high-level event in the European Parliament on children’s LGBTIQ+ rights’ will be held at Parliament. To claim that there are LGBTIQ+ children seems rather absurd, especially as every child has the right to be protected, primarily from the mad ideologies that would have them believe that they were born in the wrong body and that children can be categorised on the basis of their supposed sexual tastes.

Yet the poster for the initiative bears the words ‘Funded by the European Union’. A strongly ideological approach to the programme also seems to have been taken: it goes so far as to include the statement ‘not too young to be myself’, referring even to very young children.

In the light of the above:

1. Is the event in question benefiting – directly or indirectly – from EU funding?

2. Can the Commission state what EU funding has been granted in the last five years to the organisations IGLYO, Save the Children Europe and Rädda Barnens Ungdomsförbund, specifying programmes, amounts and purposes, particularly if a share of the funds were used for advocacy activities?

3. Does the Commission consider the assertion that ‘queer rights are children’s rights’ (as stated on the event poster) and the categorisation of children and their rights on the basis of their supposed sexual preferences to be in line with European values?
