Rule 144

Andrea Wechsler (PPE)

Subject: Application in the EU of child-protection measures agreed by Meta in the United States

Meta has agreed to implement significant safeguards for minors in the United States, including daily usage limits, night-time restrictions, limitations on push notifications and strengthened age-assurance measures.

At the same time, the Commission has preliminarily found that Facebook and Instagram may be in breach of the Digital Services Act (DSA) regarding addictive design and the protection of minors.

In this context:

1. Will the Commission take the measures agreed by Meta in the United States into account in its ongoing DSA proceedings, including when assessing appropriate and proportionate risk-mitigation measures?
2. Does the Commission consider that comparable safeguards should also be made available to minors using Facebook and Instagram in the EU, and will it seek commitments from Meta to that effect?
3. Given that Meta has demonstrated that such safeguards are technically feasible, what steps will the Commission take to ensure that minors in the EU benefit from an equivalent level of protection without unnecessary delay?
