Question for written answer E-001204/25
to the Commission
Jadwiga Wiśniewska (ECR)
(20 March 2025)

Subject: Exempting Poland from the migrant relocation mechanism

At a meeting with Ursula von der Leyen on 7 February 2025, Prime Minister Donald Tusk said ‘Poland will not implement the Migration Pact in a way that would introduce additional quotas of immigrants in Poland,’ and his argumentation was met with understanding from the Commission.

However, on 10 March 2025, Commission spokesperson Markus Lammert said that the Pact on Migration and Asylum was binding on all EU countries and that if a Member State risks delaying the implementation of legislation or even undermining the Pact the Commission would have to take the ‘necessary measures’.

In light of the above:

1. Is Prime Minister Tusk correct in stating that the Commission accepted the Polish Government’s argumentation and that Poland will be exempt from the migrant relocation mechanism set out in Article 56(2) of Regulation (EU) 2024/1351 on asylum and migration management?
2. What ‘necessary measures’ is the Commission planning to take against countries which do not fully comply with the provisions of the Pact on Migration and Asylum?

Submitted: 20.3.2025

Answer given by Mr Brunner on behalf of the European Commission (11 July 2025)

The Asylum and Migration Management Regulation <sup>(1)</sup> (AMMR) foresees a mandatory but flexible solidarity mechanism, whereby each Member State has full discretion to choose between the available forms of solidarity, namely relocation, financial contributions and alternative measures (in-kind support).

The AMMR also foresees possible deduction of solidarity contributions in cases of migratory pressure or significant migratory situations.

As Guardian of the Treaties, the Commission monitors the correct application, implementation and enforcement of EU law and may take appropriate legal action in line with the treaties to ensure compliance.
