Answer given by Mr Jørgensen
on behalf of the European Commission
(3.12.2025)

The Commission thanks the Honourable Member for the important aspects raised. The Commission has not yet issued a proposal for new ecodesign requirements for space heaters and boilers.

The Commission is still collecting and assessing data and effects of potential thresholds as part of the Impact Assessment, which is still in the preparatory phase.

For the Impact Assessment, the Commission services draw on several sources, including data from industry and experts (e.g. test results, stock estimates, and information on technology, costs, and pricing), and uses the previous impact assessment and its preparatory study, as well as various publicly available scientific studies. Information from recognised environmental bodies and agencies, such as the European Environmental Agency, has also been taken into account. The Impact Assessment will provide the information used in accordance with the normal procedures.
