Answer given by Mr Serafin
on behalf of the European Commission
(15.6.2026)

1. In 2025, 27 air-chartered services were used by the President of the Commission or other Commissioners.

Information on missions of Members of the Commission is available on the European Commission website¹. The Commission does not provide information on behalf of other institutions.

2. The Commission publishes an overview of mission expenses and purpose per Member every two months in accordance with the Code of Conduct². Information on missions of former Vice-President of the European Commission, Commissioner responsible for 'Promoting our European Way of Life' is publicly available³.

3. The clause 'Terms of contract: The execution of the contract must be performed within the framework of sheltered employment programmes: No' means that the contractor is not required to apply a specific type of work arrangement designed to fit the needs of persons with disabilities and to have a minimum number of employees with disabilities. However, according to the tender specifications, the contractor shall establish, maintain and promote an open and inclusive working environment, notably through the removal of all obstacles to recruitment and all potential discrimination based on disability.
