Answer given by High Representative/Vice-President Kallas
on behalf of the European Commission (23.10.2026)

The actions by the individual Member States in the exercise of their competences cannot be attributed to the EU. Since there is no EU position as regards possible assistance to the US in the context of its activities vis-à-vis Iran, neither the Commission nor the High Representative/Vice-President have any role under the Treaties in the assessment of the Member States actions described in the questions.

It is different in relation to the Russia's war of aggression against Ukraine, with respect to which a comprehensive EU position has been established.
