Answer given by Mr Kubilius
on behalf of the European Commission (25.8.2026)

The area of unidentified anomalous phenomenon (UAP) is considered a competence of the Member States, allowing them to address these phenomena according to the national security needs. For example, France has established the Unidentified Aerospace Phenomena Research and Information Group (GEIPAN). Therefore, the Commission is not in a position to verify any document or make any consideration regarding publications on this topic.

The Commission and the High Representative for Foreign Affairs and Security Policy/Vice President remain dedicated to collaborating with stakeholders to ensure the safety and security of the space environment.
